The Doctor tells of two countries through which the great river runs, and tells of ivory being so cheap and plentiful as to be used for door posts, and of skillful manufacturers of grass cloth rivaling India. The people are nearly white and extremely handsome, whom he supposes to be descendants of the ancient Egyptians. He also speaks of copper mines being worked for ages at Katanga and docile and friendly people. Dr Livingstone and Stanley explored the head of Lake Tanganyika and returned to Ujiji where they spent Christmas. Stanley says he found Livingstone in a very destitute condition, having been robbed and deserted by his men. He looks to be only fifty and is quite hearty. Judge Ingraham—I hardly feel at liberty to discharge you yet. The case has occupied nearly three weeks. It was fully tried and the time you have had for its consideration has not been very long. I can't see any way to discharge you now.

Foreman—We stand just the same as at first.

Judge—I do not want to know anything about your division. I will arrange so that you can send for me at any time and counsel will be sent for.

The jury then to their disappointment were locked up again. The jury is said to stand six for conviction and four for acquittal.

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—At nine o'clock last evening James Lyons, formerly door keeper at the Olympic Theater, while playing at a game of cards at a grocery on the corner of Fifth and Minna streets, becoming greatly exasperated by some remark made by James Meier, a bystander, drew a large revolver and shot Meier twice through the breast, inflicting a mortal wound. Meier was taken to the hospital. Lyons made no attempt to escape and was immediately arrested.

The train from the East due here at 8 12 last evening did not pass Reno until 6 o'clock last night and is expected here this noon.

Weather cool and very foggy.

Meier who was shot by Lyons last night is reported dying. After Lyons was taken to the calaboose and placed in a cell to await the result of Meier's wounds he clapped his hands repeatedly on his breast moaning as if in pain. Soon after he lay down on his blanket and to all appearance fell asleep. On going to him to awaken him later in the night the officer found him dead. It is supposed he died from heart disease aggravated by the intense excitement produced by the fatal affray in which he had just been engaged.

Goose Lake

A correspondent of the San Francisco [illegible] writing from Goose Lake gives an interesting account of the features of that section of country. The [illegible] is beautiful and [illegible] very good [illegible] [illegible] All the common vegetables [illegible] in great perfection. This year there will be [illegible] for the consumption of settlers. Over one hundred families now reside in Goose Lake Valley. All the settlers [illegible] on the east side of the lake, for the reason that people have taken up the first land they came to and wished to settle near together. The surrounding hills are fertile and less subject to frost than the valley. Musquitoes are intolerably bad. Black crickets are found in considerable numbers, though they have not yet proved destructive to crops. The lake itself is partly in Oregon and partly in California and is thus described:

This is really a great inland sea, fifty miles long and twenty wide. Standing at the upper end I could not see the shore at the lower end on a clear day. Beneath a cloudy sky the water has a singular reddish or chocolate reflection, as if it were alkaline, but it is not, though it is a very little salty, so that cattle prefer it to the purest and coldest water running out of the mountains. It yields an abundance of a fish called trout, weighing from one to ten pounds, which is pronounced very delicious—though judging from the specimens I have eaten here in the boarding house at Willow Ranch, it is only moderately good. Though Goose lake receives many mountain streams—some of them very respectable creeks—the water all evaporates or sinks, though it has risen a number of feet within fifteen years past. A few miles south of Willow Ranch there is a bold bluff or promontory projecting into the lake to the east side, and in 1854 the emigrants passed around this on the beach and carved their names on a smooth rock beside the road, but now the water covers road, rocks and names, and teams are compelled to make an ascent of about one thousand feet in going over the bluff. At the upper end of the lake the shore is lined with tules and flags, so that the water never roars, though the billows sometimes beat in almost as heavy as on the Pacific, but along a great portion of the south end there is a pretty clean gravel beach. In late autumn and early spring there are thousands of wild geese and ducks on the lake, while the sand hill cranes and curlews remain all summer. The latter are now rearing their young in the broad swamps around the margin and scream and chatter over the intruder's head in great numbers.

Thomas W Colvin relates the following singular fact of Goose lake: It usually freezes over (though last winter it did not) and sometimes the ice is strong enough to bear a horse all the way across. There are a number of warm springs which bubble up along the middle of the lake, keeping open each an air hole in the ice. A year ago last winter, and in fact every winter when the lake was frozen over, there was a curious rumbling sound occasionally heard by the settlers living nearest the lake, which would begin at one end and slowly travel down the lake, sounding like the distant roaring of a train of cars. Some thought the rumbling was caused by fish, others by a cracking of the ice, but the wisest were willing to acknowledge their inability to explain the phenomenon. Mr Colvin and one of his neighbors went out on the ice with a fence-rail, and, lying down across it for greater safety, crawled out to one of these air holes made by a warm spring until they could feel the edge of the ice, and, to their surprise, instead of finding that the ice thinned off gradually to the hole, it was two or three inches thick on the edge.

German Opposition to Greeley

The New York Staats Zeitung, the organ of the German Democrats of that State and city, and the most extensively circulated German political paper in the Union, declares that a union of the opposition to Grant on Greeley and Brown is impossible. At the conclusion of an article on the Fifth Avenue Hotel Conference the editor of the Zeitung, who was present on that occasion, says:

None of the speakers were bold enough to designate the Cincinnati candidates as the representatives of the ideas and principles which gave rise to the Cincinnati Convention. On the contrary most of the speakers admitted that the contrast between the words and deeds of the Cincinnati Convention was too obvious to be concealed, nay more than that, they declared that they could familiarize themselves only with loathing and horror with the idea of supporting for the chief magistracy a man whose views were utterly at variance with all that they have considered during their whole lives as indispensable to the welfare of our country and the preservation of our free institutions. But notwithstanding all this was the general refrain of their jeremiads, our voters are so discouraged and demoralized, so famished and destitute of character, that they would ally themselves even with Satan himself in order to get a chance to put their fingers into the flesh pots of Egypt. This renders it needless for us to spend more words in order to prove the incompatibility of Greeley's candidature with true reform, for if even the most ardent friends of the Cincinnati candidate are obliged to admit this incompatibility openly, the conviction of its existence must be so general that any further efforts to extend it would be simply throwing water into the sea. The leaders who were weak enough to make such wretched confessions may have taken as a standard the contemptible condition of their own political morals, but they did not know the pulse of the people. Otherwise they would have felt that the people, although afflicted with many diseases, are not yet hopelessly lost.

Catholic Opposition to Greeley

The leading Catholic newspapers all over the country are strongly opposed to Greeley. The New York [illegible] [illegible], which is uncompromising in its Democracy and in its [illegible] [illegible] in its last issue for June the following strong language in regard to the nominee of the Cincinnati Convention:

Horace Greeley is the [illegible] principal [illegible] [illegible] of all the worst [illegible] all the [illegible] scoundrels that have infested public affairs for twenty years past. Not one [illegible] honest and [illegible] in public affairs has ever been associated with him. [illegible] [illegible] with political corruption. The Sage's First Veto

The following is an advance copy of the first veto of President Greeley:

An act to raise revenue by imposing a duty of ten cents a ton on Guano.

[illegible] BY THE PRESIDENT

I return this obnoxious measure without my approval. The man who introduced it is an ass, the men who voted for it are scheming British agents, and the men who say this is not the case are liars and horsethieves. I judge that on an average every man, woman and child in America uses a ton of guano a year, in some shape or other, whether as a farmer in New York, Louisiana, Colorado, Podunk, etc, in agriculture, or as Charles A. Dana for editorial articles. We then consume, in round figures, forty million tons of guano annually. The arbitrary and revolutionary act which I veto to-day would thus impose a tax of $4 000,000 a year on our people. With what effect? It would not stimulate the production of American guano. American birds could not compete with the pauper labor of birds in debauched and priest-ridden Central America. I am not quite sure as to what I mean, or why it is not so, or what is which, but the man who speaks to the contrary is a hell hound, and bribed by British gold. H G

Of every seven native born Vermonters, three have emigrated to other States. The late census shows the whole number of Vermont emigrants is 190,000, of which 36,000 have taken up a residence in New York, 14,000 in Illinois, 16,000 in Wisconsin, 14,000 in Michigan, 12,000 in Iowa and 4,000 in California.

DR. ABORN

HAS RETURNED TO PORTLAND

Evidences of His Success while on Puget Sound

[From the Morning Herald

We notice the return of Dr. Aborn who has been paying a professional visit to the Sound country, where he has performed a great number of miraculous cures and operations. The Olympia Transcript speaks of him in the following terms: "We call attention to the cards in to-day's paper, in reference to the treatment and skill of Dr Aborn. He has been on the Sound but a few weeks, but in that time he has given such great benefit to many of our citizens that it is particularly worthy of note."

MIRACULOUS CURE

John L. Clark, of Olympia, who has been so severely afflicted for years and considered hopeless, is now fast regaining his health under the treatment of Dr. Aborn. The following is Mr Clark's statement concerning himself:

TO THE PUBLIC

For two years I have been severely afflicted with Catarrh, Throat, Bronchial and Lung Disease, and Ulceration of the Stomach. Have been treated by sixteen different physicians without any benefit; expended over $5 000; had been given up to die. Two weeks ago I placed myself under the care of Dr. Aborn, and to my great joy and surprise I have improved wonderfully, which all my friends can readily see. I can now eat and relish my food and my stomach is healed. Have gained wonderfully in strength and flesh, and I now confidently entertain hope that, under Dr Aborn's skillful treatment I shall be entirely cured.

ANOTHER REMARKABLE CURE.

[From the Olympia Tribune.]

Elsewhere in our local columns will be found a letter from Mr John L Clark testifying to the professional skill of Dr Aborn. Read it. Mr Clark is among the best known of our citizens, and the fact of his having been in poor health for some years is equally well known to many of his acquaintances. The testimony he bears to the success of the Doctor's treatment in his case is of no doubtful character, and should add largely to the reputation of the latter as a physician.

EYES TREATED

From the Olympia Tribune

This morning Dr. Aborn performed a neat surgical operation upon the eyes of a lady from Seattle—Mrs Shoudy—who, we are informed, has been nearly blind for ten years. By this operation and the Doctor's skillful treatment she will have her eyesight perfectly and permanently restored. He also performed a similar operation upon Mr Barnes, a resident of Tumwater, with a like happy result.

ANOTHER EDITORIAL FROM THE OLYMPIA DAILY TRIBUNE, JULY 5.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.—The visit of Dr. Aborn. To-morrow will be his last day in Olympia. During his brief sojourn in our midst he has effected some miraculous cures and performed several surgical operations, the success of which have materially augmented his reputation for skill. The persons who have been relieved by Dr. Aborn will gratefully remember his visit to the Sound, which it is hoped he will soon repeat.

[From the Seattle Dispatch.]

Dr. Aborn has spent a week in this city, during which time he has treated many cases of chronic diseases of the eye, ear and throat with almost miraculous success, restoring sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf and speech to the almost dumb, causing the hope to the afflicted that he will soon favor them with another visit.

RELIABLE HOME EVIDENCE OF DR. ABORN'S SKILL.—John Webster, blacksmith and ex-member of our Legislature, now a resident of Seattle and a candidate for Probate Judge, publishes a testimonial in this issue of our paper, testifying that after having been deaf for over 20 years he has been restored to hearing.

REMARKABLE CURE OF DEAFNESS

SEATTLE, June 25 1872

[illegible]

I hereby certify that I have been under the treatment of Dr Aborn for deafness, and that he has almost entirely restored my hearing. I had been quite deaf for [illegible] years, and in one ear had not heard the tick of a watch for the [illegible] time, and the second day after he commenced treating me I could hear very plain, and I feel like a new man.

The Daily Oregonian.

[illegible]AY MORNING, JU[illegible] 1872.

Reply to an Intermeddler.

[illegible] what we have said, namely, that Adair stands [illegible] on the books of the Treasury Department [illegible] and that this balance has stood against him ever since he was Collector of Customs here, many years ago.

We care nothing whatever about Mr. Adair. This matter came up in this way: Democratic organs like the Herald are in the habit of asserting that Republican officials, generally, are thieves and defaulters. Simply to meet one of these random and unfounded accusations with a fact, we stated that Mr. Adair, the last of the race of Democratic officials in this State, quit office in arrears with the Government, and has never yet made the amount good. And then the Bulletin, which is unable to find space to rebuke such papers as the Herald for their calumnies against Republicans, sprang to the defense of Adair, and in a high tone undertook to read the OREGONIAN a lecture for having presumed to mention in such a way what it is pleased to call an "honored name."

We have heretofore remarked that we do not need the admonitions of the Bulletin. We feel quite competent to conduct a Republican journal without our neighbor's prompting. Therefore when it says that we are driving votes away from the Republican party by mentioning this matter of Adair, we do not yield to our cotemporary's judgment, nor accept that paper as a censor. The OREGONIAN has been a Republican journal for some time. Its editor is no fledgeling or neophyte in Republicanism. This paper and all connected with it may be supposed to be at least as warmly interested in the success of the party and the maintenance of its principles, as those who have come to the party at a later day, but who have always and uniformly been welcomed to its ranks.

It requires rare penetration to see how the Republican party can lose what it never had. It never had Mr. Adair. He never cast a vote for it, and if he had, that could be no reason for withholding the fact we mentioned. We take it, therefore, notwithstanding all the Bulletin's involved reasonings, that we are not driving voters away from the Republican party. We never could see either the propriety or necessity of so foolish a course. We never were so unwise as to bitterly attack and furiously denounce some hundreds of men who are among the best Republicans in the State, simply because they chose to exercise their right to vote for whom they preferred in the primary meetings of their party. This the Bulletin did. It absurdly characterized all these persons as "anti-Grant" men, though we do not know of an anti-Grant man among them to-day. It labored with all its might to put them in an attitude of irreconcilable hostility to their party. It was incessant in its attacks on men whose Republicanism was happily of that unflinching kind which could not be shaken. But had it not been for extraordinary forbearance on their part, a forbearance which it would be presumptuous to depend upon at a time when issues less great than a United States Senator and a President were at stake, these Republicans would have resented the Bulletin's violent attacks and insolent dictation in a manner which would have told to some purpose in the election.

So much for repelling votes from the Republican party. The Bulletin says in effect that we give notice that the votes of men who were "secessionists" are not wanted. This is a gratuitous assertion. Many men who were secessionists, and even rebels in arms, now act with the Republican organization. Under changed political circumstances they do this no doubt from good motives. All such are welcomed by the Republican party. But if a man was once a secessionist and is still a Democrat, we know not why the fact of his delinquency to the Government should not be mentioned, as it certainly would be if he were a Republican.

The Next Election—Senator Schurz.

The next State to hold an election is North Carolina. A general election for Governor, Legislature and members of Congress will take place on the 1st August. The contest will be close, but it is believed the Republicans will succeed. Grant carried the State in 1868, but the Democrats recovered it in 1870 by a small majority. Again last year, however, the Republicans won it. Great exertions are being made by both parties to carry it in the approaching contest. It is stated by the telegraph that Senator Schurz is going down there to make speeches. Perhaps he will; yet the Nation reports Mr. Schurz as having said these things of Greeley, at the Fifth Avenue Hotel Conference, when they were trying to get a new candidate on the track:

> Mr. Schurz closed the proceedings with an explanation of his own position, which is this: that he, more than any other man, was chagrined by the result at Cincinnati; that he does not consider Mr. Greeley a Reformer, and has no expectation of reforms at his hands, and will say so on the stump; that he believes him "to be surrounded by bad men;" that he, Mr. Schurz, however, is so satisfied of the necessity of defeating Grant and dissolving existing party organizations, that he is ready to use any instrument for this purpose, and will, therefore, support Greeley in the modified and guarded manner indicated above.

Senator Schurz, holding such a position as this, cannot command the respect of the country. When he recommends the people to elect a President who is surrounded by bad men and who is incapable of carrying out any reform, he throws away the vantage ground he has claimed in his present movement and indicates very clearly that his opposition to Grant is merely personal and wholly unworthy. Mr. Schurz will do no service for Greeley either in North Carolina or elsewhere by assuming such an equivocal position.

An "Electric Errand Company" will shortly begin operations in New York and Brooklyn. Offices are to be established in central localities, and are to be connected with the different houses by wire, as the office of a hotel is connected with the hotel rooms. The charge for laying the wire will only be $2 50 for each house. At the offices will be kept a large staff of messengers, who will at once answer any signal, and for fifteen cents, do an errand. The uses of such an institution will be endless. It is believed that like companies will be started in all eastern cities.

And now the Democracy say they are in a campaign of revenge. They have put up their bitterest, most vindictive and [illegible] enemy, in order that they may get even with him by slaughtering him at the polls.

The Reg'lar Ticket.

There is one thing to [illegible] here. It is the alacrity with which a portion of the Democratic party spring to the support of their most persistent and abusive enemy a proof and illustration of his oft-asserted statement, applied to Democrats, that is, to a large portion of those enrolled under that name, that [illegible] knows [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] to vote the [illegible] ticket.

It is [illegible] amusing to witness the [illegible] of the Democratic press of this State in the present emergency. Most of these papers had hoped that Greeley would not get the Baltimore nomination. They saw the absurdity of it, and wanted to be spared the humiliation. But the Convention nominated him. What do they say now? Their great need [illegible] is this: "Our Convention has nominated him. It would ill be for a Democratic editor to have any opinions. It would be presumption in us to hold any views of our own on so important a question. We must go the reg'lar ticket."

Beyond doubt, Greeley described correctly a large share of the party when he said it was composed of an unreasoning element which follows its leaders with blind fatuity, and which is wielded by demagogues for their own purposes. He has arraigned that party for its lack of independent thought and action, yet now he presumes on these characteristics of the party for his election. He has secured the nomination, and he believes the Democracy will be whipped in, and go the "reg'lar ticket."

That a majority will be, cannot be doubted. But Greeley, in his savage abuse of the party whose votes he now relies on for his election to the Presidency, should at least have made exceptions. There are many Democrats who do not stand in awe of regular nominations, Mr. Greeley to the contrary notwithstanding. They are independent enough to act and vote as they think right, even though commanded by a Convention to do otherwise. These are votes which Mr. Greeley will not get. But he can rely on the crafty and unprincipled politicians and their followers (whom he has been in the habit of calling "slums," "rum-guzzlers," "thieves" and "riff-raff;")—these go the "regular ticket," and the "regular ticket" is now headed by Mr. Greeley.

Suppose a National Republican Convention should adopt a platform declaring that slavery ought to be re-established, the constitutional amendments annulled and the national debt repudiated; and suppose that on this platform George H. Pendleton and Brick Pomeroy were nominated for President and Vice-President. Would Republicans support them? It would be no more to ask them to do this than it is to ask Democrats to accept the platform made at Cincinnati, and to vote for Greeley and Brown. But the difference between the two parties is so great that while Pendleton and Pomeroy could not get a single Republican vote, Greeley and Brown will receive a majority of the votes of the Democratic party.

Pennsylvania.

The Herald has abandoned the campaign in Oregon, giving up the State to Grant and Wilson, and has gone to Pennsylvania. It devotes most of its efforts to the work of carrying that State for its party. Perhaps we shall be pardoned for following it in a brief excursion to Penn's Woods.

Our neighbor says the Republican State ticket in Pennsylvania is very corrupt, and will surely be defeated in October. This assertion is made on the credit of Forney's Press. It is further alleged that General Hartranft, Republican candidate for Governor, was associated some time ago with a person named Evans, who swindled the State out of a large sum of money. Colonel Forney is authority for this, too.

Now the whole trouble with Forney is that Hartranft's nomination was made by a political influence which he personally dislikes. He has aspirations to lead the party himself, and Hartranft was not on his "slate" as a candidate.

Further, since this Evans business has been raked up, the Republican press of Pennsylvania has reviewed Forney's course, and has completely turned the accusation against himself. Evans was employed to collect from the United States a sum of money due to the State of Pennsylvania. He embezzled a large part of it. Hartranft was at the time the chief accounting officer of the State, and he discovered and exposed the Evans swindle. Evans, however, claimed that he had only retained the money as commissions for his services. When the investigation was had a large number of persons were sworn, among them Col. McClure, now the leader of the "Liberal Republicans" of the State. Col. McClure testified that Forney told him he was to share in Evans' commissions to the amount of $20,000, $10,000 of which was to go to the Philadelphia Press, and $10,000 to the Washington Chronicle, Forney's "two papers, both daily." Forney himself was put on the stand and testified that $2,000 of the amount to go to the Chronicle had been received by him. Meantime Hartranft had caused Evans' arrest, caused an investigation to be had before the Legislature, and the whole swindle was exposed. The Pittsburg Commercial makes these comments:

> McClure, in his testimony before the Investigating Committee, brought out the fact that the original agreement was that Forney should participate in the Evans job to the extent of $20,000 or more. That he did not, there is no proof. Forney confesses to only $2,000. Perhaps a complete division of the spoils had not been made when Hartranft "went for" Evans, and the investigation exposed the whole crew and their swindling game. If under such circumstances Forney supported Hartranft he would be something more than human in his forgiveness. * * * Hartranft having broken up the little arrangement, and exposed the swindlers, the milk in the cocoanut can be seen without artificial aid.

It is the opinion of Pennsylvania newspapers that Col. Forney is not coming out of this matter with much credit.

The Republican press of the State speak with perfect confidence of the result of the election in October, affirming that Hartranft will certainly be successful. Even Forney declares that the State is sure for Grant and Wilson.

A contemporary, the [illegible], says that "poverty is not a crime." That is altogether owing to circumstances. It is a crime when one is brought to it by vicious habits and indulgences. Real misfortune, not resulting from bad courses, awakens a respectful sympathy and has the strongest of claims upon us; but although charity may do something for the relief of poverty which is the result of deliberate vice, yet a healthy public sentiment will not grow enthusiastic over it as an opportunity of doing good. Most people who become a public charge are brought to that condition by vices of their own, and we should not commit the error of holding them blameless, nor is the duty to relieve them of the same order as the duty to relieve those whose poverty is the result of other causes than personal vices.

Railroad Progress.

The energy that has characterized railroad progress since its inception in this State, continues. During the remainder of the present season some forty miles more of track will be completed. Twenty odd miles of this will be on the Oregon Central, and about twenty miles on the Oregon and California. By November possibly sooner, trains will run to Roseburg, Douglas county, a distance of 200 miles from Portland. Within the next two months trains will run on the [illegible] to the Yamhill river, a distance of nearly fifty miles.

Before the close of the present year we shall thus have two hundred and fifty miles of completed road in active operation. This is more than a beginning for a splendid railway system for our State. It is a large part of the work. Such results are more than the most sanguine looked for within so short a time. They reflect great credit on the enterprise and management at the bottom of these vast undertakings. Even the Herald seems to be ashamed of its carping, and has abandoned it.

The Bulletin deprecates the use of the word "secessionist." Yet it can itself fling the word about on occasions. Not many months ago a person then employed in the OREGONIAN office incurred the displeasure of the intermeddling Bulletin, and forthwith it proceeded to stigmatize him as a "secessionist," and to denounce him as a fool. We may add that he is now employed as a regular writer on that paper.

A Democratic Paper on the Situation

AN OREGON DEMOCRATIC PAPER REFUSES TO GO TO CHAPPAQUA—STRONG STATEMENT OF ITS REASONS THEREFOR.

The Eugene City Guard, a Democratic paper of the old school, declines to support Greeley. It has a long article on the Baltimore Convention, from which we make these extracts:

> The long-standing assertion of the Republicans that "the Democratic party is dead," is at length a verity. It committed suicide at Baltimore on the 10th inst. The rank and file will never rally again under the present leaders. * * * And those who have made the mistake of supposing they could by force of party discipline lead them away from their cherished principles will find themselves almost alone in their recreancy.
>
> We scarcely know in what terms to speak of the action of this self-styled Democratic Convention. We feel too much of sorrow—sorrow as for the dead—to be vindictive, too much humiliated for bold independence, and yet we cannot regard it with any degree of charity. From previous indications we were led to expect that the Convention would stop with a declaration of principles and a recommendation that the party support Mr. Greeley. But we were not prepared to hear of their adopting both Mr. Greeley and his principles—a man whose life has been devoted to a war upon Democracy, whose ideas of government and whose inborn instincts are anti-democratic, and who, so far as we are aware, has manifested no signs of relenting in his opposition and repenting of his former course. Just previous to the Cincinnati Convention he stated through the Tribune that it was to be a Republican Convention, and that Democrats were not invited to the feast. We presume when it comes to the distribution of the offices he will act upon a similar principle.

Continuing the subject, the Guard says:

> All the usurpations of the Administration, including the bayonet election law, civil rights bills, reconstruction and Ku Klux laws were warmly indorsed by Mr. Greeley. * * * While Mr. Greeley would not steal himself, he will most probably choose his appointees from among his Republican supporters, who although they may include many honest men, will be composed in great part, of the riff-raff and disappointed adventurers from the Republican ranks, conscienceless, and with appetites sharpened for public plunder by long abstinence. Besides, Mr. Greeley is a fanatic and too much of a hobbyist for practical statesmanship, as hobbyists always subordinate everything else to their particular hobbies. The Cincinnati platform is for the most part an arraignment of Grant's administration and a string of generalities too definite for distinctive principles, many of which are as opposite to the time-honored principles of Democracy as Judaism to Christianity. It may be urged that the exigencies of the times required the sacrifice. But will not the sacrifice prove in vain when we are compelled to look for relief to a faction of the Republican party who announced before hand that their thousands would make no sacrifice for their country, and that the hundreds of thousands of Democrats must accept their principles and their candidates, or in other words that they preferred Grant, corrupt and imbecile as they claimed him to be, to a Democrat, however honest or able. It is the old story of calling on the mountain to come to Mahomet. From such men we can entertain but little hope of reform and retrenchment or strict adherence to constitutional authority. For what stretch of constitutional authority have they not approved and endorsed? We opposed the New Departure and the passive policy, and subsequent events justified our action, for they brought defeat and dissension to our party. And now we have them both with additions rendering them less acceptable. * * * A taint of moral cowardice and an overruling desire for office have been the moving causes. In their eagerness for bread have they not grasped a stone? Events will tell!
>
> If success was the object of the Convention, and we can account for its strange action on no other basis, why did they not make assurance doubly sure and nominate Grant? Why swallow a camel and strain at a gnat, when the gnat only is the way of accomplishing the purpose of swallowing the camel? For where Grant and Greeley differ, it is in comparison to where they agree only as a gnat is to a camel. We have eaten dirt at the bidding of Conventions long enough. We shall continue, as heretofore, to advocate Democratic principles.

POLITICAL NOTES

A significant fact—that the religious press of the country is almost without exception, against the Cincinnati nominations.

The Atlantic Monthly announces, though not very graciously, that it prefers Grant to Greeley. The Old and New is strongly in favor of Grant.

The Chicago Times calls the Greeleyites "Chappaquacks." "Chappaquacks" is good. It will stick. It is euphonious and expressive. It tells the whole story of the Greeley men in its final syllable.

Greeley's free trade supporters remind the Detroit Tribune of a certain politician immortalized in the "Biglow Papers":

"I go agin it,
That is to say, I kinder dew
Leastways I think that, fer's [illegible],
The best way is to fight it threw."

There is a law as certain as gravitation that takes politicians of easy virtue into the Greeley camp. John F. Driggs, of Michigan, who was turned out of Congress by his indignant constituents because he sold a cadetship, turns up now as one of the most lusty bawlers for a "reform" of the corruptions of this Administration.

MEMENTOES OF LUTHER DESTROYED.—A whole collection of relics, which it is impossible to replace, recently became a prey to the flames in the city of Erfurt. There stands the Augustine Monastery in which Martin Luther lived and conceived his first ideas of reformation, converted at present into an orphan asylum. A fire suddenly broke out a few days ago, and has totally destroyed the most interesting part of the building, in which was Luther's cell, and also the room where he first gave shape to his great scheme. In these rooms, which have been, up to the latest time, shown to strangers as curiosities, Luther's Bible was kept, with marginal notes in the reformer's own hand writing, together with the painting "Death's Dance," by Beck, and other valuable relics. All of these have been burned. The pecuniary damage is estimated at about 60,000 thalers; the historical loss is incalculable.

OREGON.

The Baker City Academy closed its annual term last week.

The wheat and oat harvest will begin in Washington county next week.

A Woolen Water Pipe factory is to be started in Salem at an early day.

The Willamette University has lately received a handsome addition to its Library.

The Swamp Land [illegible] says he [illegible] Brown.

The streets [illegible] some money, [illegible] to talk for Greeley.

Hon. W. D. Hare, J. D. Merryman and other citizens of Hillsboro, start for the coast [illegible] this week.

A. H. Rogers and [illegible] Webb, of La Grande, Oregon, have received a patent on a new fangled [illegible].

Some orchards up the valley, we learn, do not average one apple to the tree. Small fruits have been quite abundant.

Berry hunting seems to be the rage all over the country now. All Washington county is in the business, or nearly so, says our correspondent.

The Academy at Wilbur, in Douglas county, has lately closed a prosperous term. The graduates were a Mr. and Miss Vanderburg, of Coos county.

The Farmer says it is calculated that the total trade for imported farm machinery in Oregon for the present year will aggregate $1,000,000, while considerable is also manufactured at home.

Jacksonville Lodge of Odd Fellows intend giving a public celebration on the 10th of August, in commemoration of the institution of the Lodge. An address will be delivered by Hon. B. Hermann, of Roseburg.

The Secretary of State has advertised for proposals for the redemption of State Relief and Bounty Bonds to the amount of about $60,000 and also for proposals to furnish the State Department with stationery for the next two years.

It is expected that at the next State Fair, Mr. S. G. Reed, of Portland, will have on exhibition specimens of his Short Horn, Ayrshire, and Alderney cattle, Cotswold and Leicester sheep, and Berkshire and Essex pigs, besides some very fine blooded horses.

As a sample of the good done to the farming interest by the recent rain, we note an instance mentioned by the Douglas county correspondent of the Farmer. A man who, before the rain, offered a piece of barley containing about twelve acres for the price of the seed that was sown on it, and couldn't make the bargain, and the same piece looks now as though it would yield thirty and perhaps forty bushels to the acre.

An Indian Agent from Fort Hall is now in the Boise country looking after the "bad Injuns," and proposes to handle them roughly when he catches them, but of this there seems to be but little probability, as all that he can find claim to be good, and very anxious, apparently, to have their wicked relatives brought to punishment. From the report we are inclined to think that the Bannocks are too wary for Mr. Agent.

A telegraph agent has been inquiring into the expense of constructing the proposed telegraph line from Coos Bay to Roseburg. He has already secured a sufficient quantity of wire as well as insulators, of a new patent and superior quality to any now in use on the line of the Western Union. The coal and lumber interest alone, which is rapidly growing in importance, demands a speedy means of communication with San Francisco, and in addition to this requires an increased mail service.

THE TERRITORIES.

Extensive fires are said to be raging in the timber on the mainland near Tacoma and further down Puget Sound.

The U. S. District Court for the 3d Judicial District of Washington Territory is now in session at Steilacoom, Judge Jacobs presiding.

The forty-nine Bostonians who lately arrived in Portland, have gone up on the Snake and Columbia rivers to spend the summer in hunting and fishing.

One hundred and sixty thousand feet of logs, seized because they had been cut on Government land in violation of law, were sold at Olympia on the 10th inst., for $65.

The apprehensions lately entertained of Indian troubles in Idaho and Eastern Washington Territories seem to have been allayed, as it is found that only a very few "siwashes" meditate anything more than stealing a few horses.

The Sentinel says that the survey of the St. James' Mission claim at Vancouver, took place, resulting in the liberal (?) grant of 144 feet square, or a little less than half an acre of land! This includes but the site of the present church edifice and the house occupied by the Sisters of Charity, cutting off the Orphanage, the Bishop's residence and the Pastor's house.

Quite a number of people have gone this summer from Oregon to the Palouse country, north of the big bend of Snake river in Washington Territory, where, it is said, lies the largest body of agricultural land, now open to settlement, on this coast. A new county has been organized, embracing the valleys commonly termed the Palouse country, having been cut off the eastern portion of Stevens county. The county seat, temporarily located at the forks of the Palouse river, has been christened Colfax.

There seems to be an inexhaustible quantity of water in the Bellingham Bay coal mines. A Sound paper of the 12th inst., says: "At Bellingham Bay the coal mine is not yet in operation. It was confidently anticipated that before this time several thousand tons of coal would be mined, and two vessels were sent there to take a portion away. The ship Germania, after laying there three weeks, was towed out by the S. L. Mastick, and taken to Nanaimo, where she will load. The bark [illegible] has been laying in the Bay for a month, waiting for a cargo, and is now there."

The first division of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, of one hundred and eighteen miles, was completed on the [illegible] of the present month. The point reached is known as Pueblo, a town of some pretensions, to which an excursion party was conveyed by railroad from the [illegible]. Speed was made at the rate of twenty miles an hour. At Pueblo the excursionists were handsomely entertained. Speeches, hand shaking and feasting marked the occasion, and the party got back to Denver in time to attend a ball in the evening of the same day. The ultimate destination of this road is to the City of Mexico.

An Old Secessionist in Support of Greeley.

A correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser, writing from Montreal, says:

Ex-Governor Wescott, of Florida, sits on the steps of the St. Lawrence Hotel and abuses Americans three-fourths of his time. He avows himself to be a Secessionist, abuses Grant, calls Sumner a coward, Greeley an idiot and Massachusetts a State of thieves and hypocrites.

Yesterday I asked the old [illegible] who he favored for the Presidency.

"Why, sir," he replied, "I go for Greeley."

"Why for Greeley," I asked.

"Because, sir, if we get him off from the Republicans we kill the [illegible] Republican party. For if that hungry [illegible] ever get into office, then they will starve out the Grantites and then steal [illegible] themselves till they [illegible] everything else, and [illegible] Republican [illegible] and [illegible] the Democracy [illegible] of the old Democratic party [illegible] Greeley."

"Will the Southern [illegible] Greeley?" I asked.

"Some will [illegible] Hill [illegible] Greeley [illegible] his Greeley [illegible] in three [illegible] sir, I'm for Greeley, just as I would be for the devil himself, if it was to [illegible] Republican Yankee party [illegible] fought the South. Now we've got the Black Republicans divided, we must whip them in detail, or, ten to one, they will all, Grant, Greeley and Sumner, get around together again. A vote, sir, for Greeley, between you and me, is a vote for killing the Republican party."

SHORT PARAGRAPHS

[illegible] the poor misguided Mo[illegible] who went to England [illegible] a few days ago [illegible].

We [illegible] pamphlets [illegible] religion, we Americans, but how will it be fifty years hence, when, as Senator Sumner calculates, we shall have [illegible] population [illegible] and when we shall have overgrown the whole continent of Europe? What will the American Eagle be [illegible] then?

Now [illegible] again, [illegible] is the dead and the candidate for public attention. He died several times some years ago, but is now [illegible] a fine, intelligent young gentleman, who speaks good English and is one of the Secretaries of the Japanese Embassy now in this country. [illegible] young man [illegible] why are these things thus?

Whenever Harvard finds a President unadorned with a literary appendix to his name, it LL. D.'s him forthwith. There is more [illegible] in the case of [illegible] Grant [illegible] the degree was conferred a few days ago [illegible] than in some instances hitherto, for, as a graduate of West Point, he is a well educated man. Yet this system of conferring such degrees is essentially an abuse which old Harvard should be the last to endorse. Grant's suffering degrees were earned some years ago [illegible].

Time was when a man was dead he would stay dead and have an end, but now-a-days corpses are getting into a vicious habit of coming to life and frightening people half to death and then relapsing again into "cold abstraction." A case has just occurred in Michigan in which the dead man while undergoing the operation of shaving sat up and distinctly remarked: "What is the matter of me, Fitzem? I feel very queer," and then lay down again and was dead as before. It was very unpleasant for the barber.

During a recent debate in Parliament over a bill to restrict the liquor traffic, a Mr. Plimsoll said that he had visited America in order to see the workings of our prohibitory laws. At Portland, Maine, he was told that the only alcoholic fluid that could be sold was "sacramental wine." When, however, he asked for some of this, the reply was, "Which sort will you have?" Fourteen different varieties of "sacramental wine" were offered him. One of them was the very best corn whisky. The statement was received by the House with great laughter. It furnishes a lesson that our Legislators would do well to heed.

Remarkable Cure of Mr Abram Tully.

SAN JOSE, August 2, 1871.

DR. A. M. LOYRYA & CO.—Some two years since I was taken down with Inflammatory Rheumatism, and was for some time treated by two physicians, but got no better. I tried nearly every remedy I heard of, but nothing seemed to do me any good, until about two weeks ago I was advised by Judge J. Johnson to try your UNK WEED REMEDY. I procured one bottle and was entirely cured. For six weeks before taking the UNK I was compelled to go upon crutches. I consider your remedy a great blessing to suffering humanity, and shall deem it my duty to inform all Rheumatics of its great virtues. Yours, etc.,

CITY.

COST OF [illegible].—Three little rascals were up before Judge Denny yesterday on the charge of having assaulted a Chinaman without the slightest provocation and cutting off the queue of another Celestial. It seems that these young vandals were down at an Indian camp below the city on Sunday, rambling around. Pretty soon two Chinamen came along past where the boys were. One of the youngsters proposed to his companions to have a little sport at the expense of the "John." This was of course readily agreed to, "and they went for the heathen Chinee." After administering sundry kicks and cuffs to one, they turned their attention to another, and actually amputated his cue in short order. He remonstrated and protested, but no mercy was found in their heart, and after cutting off an important portion of his religious belief, they let him go in peace. To lose his cue any Chinaman regards as a great sin and disgrace, so this rueless heathen sought for redress and vengeance for the burning indignity heaped on him. Complaint was made to the authorities, and the boys identified and hauled up before Judge Denny. On hearing the testimony in the case the Court rendered a most righteous judgment by sentencing the young hoodlums to the city jail, each for the term of twenty-three days. Served 'em right. Let it serve as a warning in the future.

SWINDLING THE WORMS.—All our readers doubtless recollect Dr. Bourne, the great vegetarian who delivered several lectures in this city about six weeks ago. About five weeks ago he started on foot to walk to California, subsisting on the way on a purely vegetable diet. A few days since he passed through Marysville, en route for San Francisco, and this is what the Appeal says: "He is now satisfied that his pet theory, which he has taught and practiced for thirty years, is correct, and he calculates to follow it for the next hundred years provided he lives long enough and we don't see why he should not, for apparently there is nothing about him to die, nothing that death could derive any profit from seizing. Bones, sinews, and skin—that's all. Flesh he has none, and never will have on that generous diet. There will be mourning among the worms when the worthy Doctor is laid away to rest, with his darling Graham crackers beside him, and doubtless an indignation meeting of the swindled denizens of the grave will be the result."

DROWNED.—A gentleman in East Portland has kindly furnished us the following particulars in relation to the drowning of a man in the Clackamas river. A few days since the body of a drowned man was found in the Clackamas river about four miles above the Welch farm. It appears that James Grimm, for such was the name of the deceased, had been in bathing on Thursday last, and being subject to the heart disease, it is supposed he was attacked while in the water and drowned before he could reach the shore. On Friday he was missed by his friends, and search being made, his clothing was discovered on the bank. The river was searched, and the body recovered early on Saturday morning, some distance down the stream. The Coroner was notified, and an inquest held over the remains. A verdict was rendered in accordance with the above facts. The deceased was unmarried and aged about thirty years.

SELLING LIQUOR.—A short time ago a man named McDonald was arrested and placed in the county jail on a charge of selling whiskey to an Indian, who belongs to the Siletz reservation. McDonald was one of the men employed on the railroad. The Indian to whom the liquor had been disposed, being the principal witness in the case, was also lodged in the jail with McDonald. The Grand Jury which was discharged yesterday, did not make any examination of the matter, as the case was not in the regular order. That being the case, McDonald will have to remain in limbo until the November term of court. Meantime the U. S. Grand Jury now in session took the case in hand and will probably indict him. The Indian was released yesterday from custody, Mr. O. A. Brown becoming responsible for the appearance of his "Lordship." The Indian was examined yesterday before the U. S. Grand Jury.

TERRIBLE FALL.—By a gentleman just from down the river, we learn that one of the workmen named John Bushnel, employed on the light house now being built at Cape Foulweather, met with a terrible fall on last Saturday morning about ten o'clock. He was crossing on the tramway which leads from the main cliff to the light house, when his foot slipped and he fell on the rocks below, a distance of sixty feet. As he was falling he gave one cry, which brought the other workmen to the rescue. Bushnell was picked up badly mangled, but still alive. He was removed to Elk City, and at last accounts was not dead, but no hopes were entertained for his recovery.

"THROUGH LINE."—The first number of The Through Line, published by Col. W. W. Chapman, has been laid on our table. It is a twenty column sheet, and presents a very neat typographical appearance. The paper is to be devoted to railroads and kindred subjects, and especially to the building of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad. From a casual observation of the maiden issue of this railroad journal, it is fair to presume that readers of future numbers will realize that measure of pleasure and profit promised by the editor.

EXCURSION TO ASTORIA.—We understand that the East Portland Band contemplates giving a grand excursion down the river sometime during the next week. One of the O. S. N. Co's best steamers will be chartered for the occasion. The excursionists will leave here, proceed to Astoria, remain over night, then proceed next day to Baker's Bay, and return to this city after being absent two nights and three days.

EXCAVATION COMMENCED.—A number of workmen with teams and carts, began excavating at the corner of Ash and First streets yesterday morning, for the new brick block to be erected this season by Messrs. Smith & Stephens. The plans and specifications have been completed, and the work will be pushed lively forward until the proposed building will be ready for occupancy.

STILL CRITICAL.—The condition of Mr. Flowerdew still continues very critical. But slight hopes are entertained of his recovery. His condition yesterday was reported a little better, but still the result is quite uncertain. Good medical attendance has been constant and unremitting in its attentions, and everything known to skill has been and is being done to battle the disease.

SERIOUSLY ILL.—The many friends of Mr. H. A. Hogue will be pained to learn that he is still confined to his bed with a very severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. He has been seriously ill for the last month or more, and is still as helpless as a child—unable to move without great pain, or even feed himself.

PERSONAL.—We acknowledge a call from Capt. John Smith, Indian Agent for the Warm Spring Reservation. He is in good health and reports everything quiet and prosperous about the reservation. We regret to announce that his wife is hopelessly ill of a cancer, and will necessitate a speedy return to his post of duty.

PLEASURE PARTY.—We learn that a party of English tourists, numbering about fifty, who have arrived at different times in the city, propose to start for the summit of Mount Hood in a few days. The object of the excursion will be for pleasure and to make some scientific observations.

CHANGE IN TIME OF KALAMA BOAT.—Beginning on to morrow, the O. S. N. Co's boat will leave the Portland wharf for Kalama at 5 P. M., one hour earlier than heretofore. Returning, will leave Kalama at 5 A. M.

FOR FORT COLVILLE.—A company of soldiers under command of Capt. Smith, were taken up the Columbia on the [illegible] from Vancouver yesterday. They are enroute for Fort Colville, where they will be stationed.

APPEARED.—In the Circuit Court yesterday in the case of the State vs. Ben Marshall and Zed Wilson, after default had been entered, Marshall made his appearance, was arraigned and allowed until this morning to plead.

FROM [illegible].—[illegible] Taggart and [illegible] Taylor, arrived from [illegible] Sunday evening on the [illegible]. The former gentleman has been absent from his post on business connected with the Department.

DISCHARGED.—The Grand Jury of Multnomah county presented three indictments yesterday to the Circuit Court, and were discharged from further attendance. No report was submitted by them.

STAGE ROBBERY.

From parties who arrived in the city last evening from east of the mountains we learn the following particulars concerning the robbery of the stage at Antelope Canyon, about half way between Canyon City and the Dalles. A Mr. Thornburry and two other persons, who were driving through the Canyon on last Friday afternoon, perceived three persons ahead and to the right, on the side of a hill. They were all armed with guns and pistols. The party did not like the appearance of these fellows, and took such precautions as put them in a condition to defend themselves in the event of being attacked. They took their pistols from under the seat and placed them down in the front part of the vehicle, so that they could be brought into requisition at a moment's notice. The men, however, kept on, and did not offer to interfere with either Mr. Thornburry or his traveling companions. They drove on, and thought no more of the suspicious looking foot pads. In the evening they were overtaken by the stage, which was about an hour behind them. The passengers and driver stated that when about midway of Antelope Canyon, and near the spot where Mr. T. saw the men, three persons, so masked as to defy identity, suddenly made their appearance at one side of the road, and under cover of their guns commanded the passengers—some five or six—to throw out all the mail matter which was in the stage. This request, it may be supposed, was very readily complied with, and the sacks were heaved out in quick order. After that the stage was allowed to proceed on the way. Just how much was in the mail-bags is not known, but one of the passengers who threw them out declared that several were very heavy, and must have contained large quantities of dust. It is thought that the mail was robbed of from $12,000 to $15,000. One rather remarkable circumstance connected with the affair is that the robbers did not demand the loose change which the passengers had. One gentleman had about his person several thousand dollars, and others different sums, aggregating no inconsiderable amount. We hope in a few days to be able to give our readers more complete details and the exact amount of which the stage was robbed.

BARKING SHADE TREES.—The City Council have recently passed, or rather revised an old ordinance in relation to the running at large of cows and stock of all kinds. One of the objects in doing this, was to protect the shade trees along our sidewalks. Now this just brings us to the subject of which we desire more especially to speak. Our recent observations have induced the belief that the shade trees are still in danger of a foe scarcely less implacable than the cow against whose preference for maple and locust leaves, the "City Dads" have so wisely made provisions. Milkmen, butchers, grocers, expressmen, etc., in going their daily rounds make it very convenient to stop their horses at some of the flourishing young maple trees, while they deliver whatever they may have. Meantime, the equine, true to his native instincts, leisurely browse on the young, tender shoots, or tears off several mouthfuls of the juicy bark. An inspection of many of the trees on the back streets will prove the truth of the assertion. We have observed trees with the bark peeled in a number of places. These horses are no more privileged characters than the cows. Let teamsters ponder on these things and govern themselves accordingly.

NARROW ESCAPE.—We learn that the family of Dillard Holman, Esq., of this city, came very near being drowned in the Columbia river on last Sunday. With other parties they were crossing from the mouth of Lewis river when a heavy squall came up on the Columbia, and being in small boats it was with the utmost difficulty they succeeded in reaching the shore. The whole party, filling two skiffs, were most thoroughly drenched by the water and frightened by the great danger. A son of Mr. Holman, quite young, the only person who was in one of the boats to row it, was so exhausted when he reached the shore that he could not stand upon his feet. The escape of the party under the circumstances, as detailed to us, was a most fortunate affair.

AMUSEMENTS.

ENTERTAINMENT.—The ladies of the Unitarian church propose to give a literary and musical entertainment at the chapel, corner of Seventh and Yamhill streets, to-morrow evening. A very social and intellectual treat is promised. We learn that Miss Cartwell is to read the selections entitled "The Bells" by Edgar A. Poe, and the "Beautiful Snow," and that in addition to ladies and gentlemen of the church, Dr. Hatch, Mr. Thielsen, Mr. Myrick and others will lend their generous aid in rendering it a pleasant and profitable evening. The programme is published in another column.

A MAN [illegible]

A [illegible] almost immediate relief.

BREVITIES.

Keep cool if you know how.

The steamer [illegible] is being painted.

A shower, a long'un for a refreshing shower.

Straw hats will tell us which way the wind blows.

Wood reclines on our sidewalks, and the price declines.

[illegible] weather has [illegible] regular [illegible] Indian summer.

The grand jury for this county were in session yesterday afternoon.

Great improvements are being made in front of the Clarendon Hotel.

The Caruthers' law suit still drags its weary length along in the Circuit Court.

Midsummer evening entertainment is the next pleasurable affair at the Unitarian Chapel.

War on monopolies must be profitable as the Herald is going to get a new dress and press.

Mr. [illegible] has the contract for building the new stern wheel steamer of Thomas Lewis.

The dry season is upon us and for the next two months we must endure the heat and dust.

Fires were burning in the timber west of the city last evening. Look out for cord wood and fences.

A family from Linn county went up on the Cascades boat this morning. They intend to settle on Hood river.

The Portland Light Battery now numbers thirty men. The next time they turn out on parade they will show a decided improvement.

Boys continue to desecrate the Sabbath by bathing in the river below the [illegible] yard. They are resolved to give us an item some of these days.

The "posey" flowers have all faded and gone—likewise the green grass don't grow all round, which is another way to say that it is dern'tion warm 'ere abouts.

Why don't Portland ratify over the endorsement of Greeley and Brown? Let the pious Democracy rise and bowl to the "music of the spheres," the clamor of the new gag, and the sound of the turkey gravy.

PLANTATION BITTERS!
S. T.--1860--X.
This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

HOT WEATHER IN NEW YORK—[illegible]

[illegible] past [illegible] been [illegible] marked, [illegible] and it seems as if the spirit [illegible] had imbued the weather [illegible] the day which preceded it. On Sunday night [illegible] like a blanket [illegible] smother us at the same [illegible] The very [illegible] rain, [illegible] and hold sweet converse [illegible] to attend the Sunday night sacred concert and lay languidly along sheds and fences, tried to keep cool by remaining prostrate among the grass. When a weary mortal went to bed if perchance sleep visited his eyes, it was not of that sort which the poet calls "Tired nature's sweet restorer," but of that sort which puts strange, uncanny thoughts into one's head and makes him dream that he is being smothered by miles and miles of super-imposed feather beds, or, swimming in boiling pitch, or enveloped in the fiery tail of Plantamour's comet. Sometimes, too, the wretched dreamer will see a thermometer long as an obelisk, its base planted on his breast and the seething mercury rising up, up, up, until it boils over on him and he awakes with a shriek, but, alas, not in a cold perspiration, for even that poor boon is denied one in such weather as this.

At such a season as this, when to the ordinary calefacient powers is added that new and awful one, the approach of Plantamour's comet, what is the use of fanning yourself? That only makes you hotter; and if once you begin to seek relief in so thoughtless a way, you must keep on with your exertion, for as soon as you stop you are worse off than you were at first. It is silly, too, to try to take matters coolly; and any one who pretends that he does so is an affected ass. How can one have sangfroid when the mercury stands at 100 in the shade? Of course it is absurd to speak of the mercury's standing "in the shade" as a distinctive quality, for then all is shade—the most malefic species of deadly night-shade, only it won't send you to sleep. It drives people mad, and it is said that on Sunday night a certain philosophical instrument maker was rendered so crazy by the heat that he bounced from his bed and, running through the streets "Like a pale martyr" ("in his shirt of fire" would have been more true to nature,) at length reached his shop, burst open the door, and ruthlessly shivered to atoms every thermometer within it. To his disordered imagination it seemed as though they were all sneering at him as one who had contrived means of measuring his own misery; they twitted him, and he swore he would have his revenge.

Another man, on whose premises there is that most unusual of things in the city—a deep well—rushed madly from his couch, squatted in the bucket and lowered himself to the water's edge. In the morning, when the servant girl went to draw water, she pulled up the bucket and found it full of the choicest butter, but the husband and father returned no more. Bad as were the tortures of the night they were as nothing to those of the day. The pen almost melts in the hand that would speak of them. Men felt themselves "expanding visibly," getting bigger and bigger and continually exposing greater surface to the blistering rays of the sun, and even of the shade which radiated heat in large quantities. Ladies walking in the streets were surprised to find that their parasols had become huge umbrellas through the expanding power of heat; men did not know each other, and New York was one greater blister. Hypocrites who blew hot and cold at the same breath were much loved, for the heat was but that of the atmosphere, while the cold was that of the north wind.

The Polar bear of the Central Park was in agony and had to be packed in ice; but toads and frogs and snakes, being cold blooded animals, were calm and clammy as so many corpses. There were cases of sudden disappearance which were very surprising. Two Germans were talking together in Nassau street, when one of them suddenly vanished, went out like a bubble, leaving not a trace in the air or on the earth. He had actually been dissipated, as many other men have been, by heat; he had been converted at once into gas without going through the intermediate state of fluidity. But such occurrences will be too frequent as the season advances. The best way to avoid them is for a man to fill his hat with ice when he starts from home, as this will effectually prevent congestion or dissipation. Let us be calm and wait for the coming comet which shall free us all from the pangs of Gehenna.

An Incestuous Villain.

Several years ago there lived within a few miles of McMinnville, a farmer with his wife and a large family of children, and in addition to this a brother boarded with him for some years. That brother had a wife and child in the Atlantic States, but regardless of his duty to them, of his honor or that of those whom he should have been ready to defend at his own risk, the heartless wretch seduced and eloped with his niece, his brother's daughter, a girl of about fifteen years. All trace of the fugitives was lost, but it has subsequently transpired that they went to Douglas county and there lived in open shame until public sentiment became too warm for them, when they moved to Goose Lake. The same course was pursued there with a like result, followed by a flight to California. After some years the girl came home, leaving her two children with their father. She lived some time at her parents' home, but not getting on very well, has since then been working in different parts of the county. Last week the paramour came here. Putting up at the hotel he left the two children and repaired to his brother's farm. Here he left word that the children were at the hotel, and if any one wanted them they could go and get them! Before anything could be done he had disappeared, and the sorrowing grandparents have taken charge of the two little unfortunates, worse off with both parents living than if they were orphans indeed. Next day a warrant was issued and placed in the hands of officer Brown, who used every effort to capture the offender, but failed, as he got a false clue and went to Albany before the mistake was discovered. However, if such a creature can escape punishment, it simply shows that justice can't be done on earth.

A Momentous Midsummer Day.

(From the New York Mail.)

The 24th of June, 1872, deserves to be classed among the memorable days in modern history. While the governments of France and Germany, on that day, made the final arrangements still occupied by German Troops, and thus, as it were, buried the hatchet, the Holy Father broke definitely with the cabinet of Berlin, and prayed publicly that the stone might fall that would complete the overthrow of the German colossus. But almost simultaneously the telegraph flashed from the northern capital the news that the Jesuit bill had become a law, and that the followers of Ignatius Loyola would be driven from the German Empire.

But to these three historical events which occurred on this year's midsummer day—the restoration of, at least outwardly, amicable relations between France and Germany, the open rupture between the Vatican and the Emperor William the First, and the expulsion of the Jesuits from Germany—must be added still another, which will likewise occupy a conspicuous place in the modern history of Europe. For on that day the Egyptian fleet, carrying the Khedive of Egypt, hove in sight of the Golden Horn. He came to signify his complete submission to the Sultan, and to declare his unconditional acceptance of the terms which the Sublime Porte had imposed upon him. Turkey is thus relieved from one of the great dangers with which it was threatened by the secret hostility of its most powerful vassals, and now that she has again the immense resources of the land of the Nile fully at her disposal, she may await with less anxiety than for many years past the complications that may arise in regard to the Eastern question. She will undoubtedly adopt a more energetic policy towards her unruly vassals of Tunis and Egypt, and on the banks of the Danube. She will act with less timidity toward Russia, and will no longer court the protection and friendship of the Western Powers as zealously as heretofore.

All these events of midsummer day, 1872, will have an important effect upon the preservation of peace and the development of liberty in Europe. The restoration of a more friendly state of feelings between France and Germany will enable the government of the former country to divert the attention of its people from that thirst for revenge which has hitherto animated them, and to [illegible] the [illegible] development of the [illegible] The [illegible] of the [illegible] the Jesuits will fully [illegible] around the Emperor William, [illegible] as a logical consequence, render his [illegible] more and more liberal. The same will be the case in Italy, upon whose policy the hostility between the Pope and the German Emperor will produce an immediate effect. And in the East, which has hitherto been regarded as a sort of vast magazine of combustibles which a spark might set on fire at any moment, and thus kindle a general European war, the sky looks much brighter and propitious.

In the July number of the [illegible] James Parton furnishes an article on Thomas Jefferson, in the course of which he alludes to the ridicule which Virginians formerly heaped upon New Englanders, calling them "witch burners," etc., and says that

"Virginians [illegible] are not generally aware that at the time when Yankee magistrates were hanging witches and whipping Quakers, Virginia Justices of the Peace were putting Quakers in the pillory for keeping their hats on in church, and appointing juries of matrons to fumble over the bodies of old women for 'witch marks.'"

In the course of the same article he makes the still more astonishing assertion that similar laws remained in force in South Carolina until six months ago, when they were abolished by the Commission for the Codification of the Laws. These laws, it is further stated, were executed upon a victim in South Carolina nearly one hundred years after the last witchcraft execution in Salem.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

MONDAY EVENING, July 15, 1872.

Gold in New York to-day, 115⅝.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 87½c buying; 88½c selling.

The Gussie Telfair arrived at this port last evening from Victoria and Sound ports. She brings about 200 tons of freight as follows: 1,000 barrels of lime from Orcas Island; from way ports, 85 bales of wool, 37 bxs of Dry Cod Fish, 6 bales of sheep pelts, and 30 pkgs raw hides.

A barkentine was seen by the Gussie Telfair off the bar. She was supposed to be the Jane A. Falkinburg, now due from the Sandwich Islands.

The Garibaldi was passed at Oak Point, waiting for a tug to bring her up.

One hundred and twenty bales of Wool and a large lot of Dry Hides were brought down from the vicinity of Umatilla this evening by the Dalles boat.

The Okanagon brought up about 50 bales of hay from the vicinity of Freeport.

Money and Business.

The increased prosperity of our State, consequent upon the prosecution of railway and other enterprises, upon the steady flow of population hither and upon the larger production of Wheat, Wool, Lumber, etc., for export, has enabled farmers, tradesmen and others to make very considerable permanent improvements, to erect new buildings, to purchase new machinery, to increase stocks of merchandise, etc., etc; and as all the operations cost money, there has been a much larger outflow of cash than usual. And here is a solution of the problem which vexes a good many people, who ask daily, what has become of the great amount of money expended for agricultural products, for railroad work and the like, within the State during the last two years? Business has been enlarged so as to absorb all this money. People used to wonder what would become of the vast sums of California and Australian gold. Some imagined that the precious metals would shortly become so abundant that they would cease to be practically serviceable as a basis of values. But the business of the world has absorbed them. The increase of the precious metals created an immense number of new avenues of business and enlarged old ones. In our own State the same result is observed within the last year or two on a small scale.

The Farmer (Salem), obtaining its figures from reliable sources, estimates that the sales of agricultural machinery in Portland for the single month of May last aggregated the great sum of three hundred thousand dollars. This was for a single month, though the month of May is a busy season in that line. In other leading lines the sales are enormous, notably so in Dry Goods, Groceries and Hardware. When these things are taken into consideration, and when it is remembered that we manufacture little for export, and derive our income chiefly from agricultural productions, no one can wonder that the large amount of money disbursed in the State during the last two years has passed out again through the channels of trade.

What the State most greatly needs is an acceleration of manufacturing enterprise. At present we use very few articles except those purchased abroad. Furniture is a large item, but little is manufactured among us. Yet there are materials here for making very handsome Furniture. Little Leather is produced in the State, our Hides are sent abroad and returned in Boots and Shoes. Yet there are natural facilities for the manufacture of Leather here which are not surpassed anywhere. We might run in this way an almost endless list of articles, the manufacture of which among us is essential to the prosperity of the State. We may assure ourselves that we shall never make such industrial progress as we desire until all those sources of wealth are explored and brought into use.

A San Francisco paper compiles Wool statistics for California for six months ending June 30th. According to this statement receipts of Wool at San Francisco for the period mentioned were 11,326,000 lbs. [illegible] lbs were shipped from the interior to the East and 150,000 lbs were retained by interior mills. The total supplies of California were for six months, 12,087,000 lbs, against 11,531,000 lbs for the same time in 1871, and 12,180,000 lbs same time in 1870. There was a stock of 1,000,000 lbs on hand on the 1st of January. Receipts from Oregon for the six months have been [illegible] lbs—making the total supply of domestic for the six months about 14,105,000 lbs. Deducting what has been sent East, and also taken by local factories, the current stock is probably 2,150,000 lbs.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For President:

ULYSSES S. GRANT,

Of Illinois.

For Vice President:

HENRY WILSON,

Of Massachusetts.

For Presidential Electors.

[illegible]

Election Tuesday, Nov. 5, 1872.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

[illegible]

1. During [illegible] the Republican Party has [illegible] a new policy [illegible] enterprises have been [illegible] The revenues have been carefully collected and honestly applied. Despite the annual large reductions of the rates of taxation, the public debt has been reduced during General Grant's Presidency at the rate of $100,000,000 per year. A great financial crisis has been averted, and peace and plenty prevail throughout the land. Menacing foreign difficulties have been peacefully and honorably compromised, and the honor and power of the nation kept in high position throughout the world. This glorious record of the past is the party's best pledge for the future, and we believe that the people will not entrust the government to any party or combination of men composed of those who chiefly have resisted every step in this beneficial progress.

2. Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil, political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and Federal legislation. Neither law nor its administration should admit any discrimination in respect to citizens by reason of race, creed, color or previous condition of servitude.

3. The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right, not merely tolerated because they are law, and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation, the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured the amendments.

4. The National Government should seek to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere, and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty.

5. Any system of civil service under which the subordinate positions of the Government are considered rewards for mere party zeal, is fatally demoralizing, and we, therefore, favor a reform of the system, by a law which shall abolish the evils of patronage and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity the essential qualifications for public position, without practically creating a life-tenure of office.

6. We are opposed to further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolies, and demand that the National domain be set apart for free homes for the people.

7. The annual revenue, after paying current debts, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal of the public debt; and except as much as may be derived from a tax on tobacco and liquors, be raised by duties on importations, which should be adjusted to aid in securing remunerative wages to labor and promote the industries and growth and prosperity of the whole country.

8. We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors whose valor saved the Union. Their pensions are a sacred debt of the nation, and the widows and orphans of those who died for their country are entitled to the care of a generous and grateful people. We favor such additional legislation as will extend the bounty of the Government to all our soldiers and sailors who were honorably discharged and who in the line of duty became disabled, without regard to the length of service or the cause of such discharge.

9. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers concerning allegiance, "once a subject always a subject," having at last, through the efforts of the Republican party, been abandoned, and the American idea of the right of an individual to transfer his allegiance having been accepted by European nations, it is the duty of our Government to guard with jealous care the rights of adopted citizens against the assumption of unauthorized claims by their former Governments, and we urge a continued and careful encouragement and protection to voluntary emigration.

10. The franking privilege ought to be abolished and a way proposed for reduction in the rates of postage.

11. Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor, and the Republican party recognize the duty of shaping legislation so as to secure a full protection and ample field for capital, and for labor which creates capital, the largest opportunities and a just share of the mutual profits of these two great servants of civilization.

12. We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an important duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions and for the protection of the ballot, and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the Nation.

13. We denounce the repudiation of public debts, in any form or disguise, as a national crime. We witness with pride the reduction of the principal of that debt, and of the rates of interest upon the balance, and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption to specie payment.

14. The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom, their application for admission to further usefulness is received with satisfaction, and the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration.

15. We heartily approve of the action of Congress in extending amnesty to those engaged in the rebellion and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land.

16. The Republican party propose to respect all rights reserved by the people to themselves as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and Federal Governments. It disapproves of resorting to unconstitutional laws for the purpose of removing evils by the interference with rights not surrendered by the people to either the State or National Government.

17. It is the duty of the General Government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and ship building.

18. We believe that the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment, practical wisdom, incorruptible integrity and illustrious services of U. S. Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people, and with him at our head we start to-day on a new march to victory.

Has created many a new business,
Has enlarged many an old business,
Has revived many a dull business,
Has rescued many a lost business,
Has saved many a failing business,
Has preserved many a large business,
And insures success in any business.

GIRARD'S SECRET.—Stephen Girard used to say to [illegible] "I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have made it an invariable rule to advertise in dull times as well as the busiest, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many sales that I otherwise would have lost."

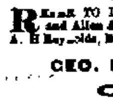
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco, established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking but new remedies, and has returned with ten[illegible] facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, [illegible] and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of [illegible] or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful, and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the [illegible] [illegible] by calling upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in a registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary [illegible] self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and elsewhere, are tradesmen and become too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry [illegible] will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them unless you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon [illegible] by exhibiting bogus [illegible] patients' letters, etc. Dr. [illegible] may call at his office [illegible] to treat persons that he promises to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearny street, or [illegible] Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX [illegible] ON THE LETTER.
